

Review of Discover's Secret Agents exhibition, Saturday 9 March 2014:

Secret Agents at Discover

The agent who explained everything was very good at acting. For example if somebody called out, she would make it like it was part of the story. The mini tests were very clever. I did not like the test in the phone booth in the hideout room and we didn't have enough time to finish them. It was confusing and mind twisting. I wish I had a bit more time at the exhibition.

Shhh – secret agents Millie and Nathan at Discover

I think it was great for younger kids but the clues were quite difficult and I felt we didn't have enough time to work out what to do before we had to leave.
